1. Qualitative Information on Quarterly Results

(1) Explanation of operational results

During the first quarter of the consolidated fiscal year under review (April 1, 2022 to June 30, 2022), looking at the Japanese economy, manufacturing industries lost momentum because of a rise in production costs due to continuing high raw material prices and a weakening yen and disrupted supply chains caused by the lockdown in Shanghai, China, while non-manufacturing industries, mainly service industries, began to recover after the semi-emergency coronavirus measures were cancelled. However, the economic outlook turned uncertain since there were rising concerns that a manifestation of geopolitical risk and price increases following a hike in resource prices and a weaker yen were likely to put downward pressure on the domestic economy.

Under these circumstances, the Unitika Group has been endeavoring to realize the building of strong business portfolios, promotion of global business development, and a change in business culture and mind-set—the Group's basic policies under G-STEP30, the 1st, a medium-term management plan announced in May 2020 that is in the final year.

In the first quarter of the consolidated fiscal year under review, the Group reported net sales of 29,599 million yen (up 5.5% year on year), supported by an increase in demand that recovered from the COVID-19 pandemic. On the other hand, operating profit decreased to 987 million yen (down 53.2% year on year) since the Company was not able to absorb the impact of production cost increases caused by continuing high raw material and fuel prices and a weak yen, despite its efforts, including price hikes and cost reduction.

Furthermore, ordinary profit grew to 2,806 million yen (up 57.5% year on year) and profit attributable to owners of parent rose to 2,040 million yen (up 62.0% year on year) since the Company posted a foreign-exchange valuation gain of assets denominated in foreign currencies due to a rise in the U.S. dollar against the yen (the yen continuing a downward trend).

Here is an overview of the business results by segment.

[Polymers Segment]

The Polymers Segment had tough times since both soaring natural resources prices and the depreciation of the yen drove up costs greatly.

The Films business suffered negative impacts of rising raw material prices. Demand remained robust both in the packaging and industrial sectors. In the packaging sector, sales of high-value-added products, such as "EMBLEM-HG," a barrier nylon film, and environmentally friendly chemically recycled nylon films, increased strongly. In the industrial sector, sales of high-value-added products, such as "UNIPEEL," a silicon-free release PET film, expanded. In general, sales were steady, but the impact of a rise in raw material and fuel prices was huge. Accordingly, the Films business saw net sales increase but profit decrease.

The Plastics business had an uphill battle since raw material and fuel prices rose, supply chains were disrupted in the automobile industry, and exports to China decreased due to the COVID-19 lockdown. Although the business strove to minimize the impact of soaring raw material and fuel prices by revising sales prices, the efforts had a limited effect on profitability. Accordingly, the Plastics business saw net sales grow and profit decline.

Consequently, the Polymers segment posted operating profit of 1,356 million yen (down 38.3% year on year) on net sales of 13,089 million yen (up 4.7% year on year).

[Performance Materials Segment]

The Performance Materials Segment saw sales recover since demand for construction and civil engineering applications picked up. Furthermore, as demand remained brisk in the electronic material sector, sales of high-value-added products grew steadily.

In the Activated Carbon Fibers business, sales for automobile applications suffered the negative impact of the lockdown in China and production reduction, but demand for mainstay water purifier applications continued to be strong.

In the Glass Fibers business, in the industrial materials sector, sales for building and civil engineering applications, such as incombustible tents, recovered. In the electronic materials sector, sales of IC cloth, mainly high-value-added products, including super-thin products and materials with low thermal expansion, expanded.

In the Glass Beads business, sales for road applications and reflective material applications were sluggish. Although sales for industrial applications were steady, the business suffered soaring energy prices significantly.

In the Non-woven Fabrics business, sales for skin care applications continued to be sluggish from the previous year since the effects of self-restraint in going out still remained. The decline in automotive production affected sales for automotive applications. Although sales for agriculture and building applications partially recovered, soaring raw material and fuel prices weighed heavily on profitability.

In the Industrial fibers business, sales for building and civil engineering applications picked up, and among highvalue-added products, nylon hollow-fiber membranes sold steadily. However, sales for automobile applications were weak; profitability was greatly affected by soaring raw material and fuel prices.

Consequently, the Performance Materials segment posted operating profit of 142 million yen (up 73.5% year on year) on net sales of 8,937 million yen (up 5.8% year on year).

[Fibers and Textiles Segment]

The Garments, Lifestyle Materials and Bedding business had difficulty in maintaining profitability because of a delay in passing a steep rise in production costs, which were caused by soaring raw materials and fuel prices, processing charges and logistics costs, as well as the yen's depreciation, on to sales prices. Although sales in the uniform sector, a mainstay of this business, picked up to some extent, sales in bedding and sport clothing sectors continued to be weak.

Consequently, the Fibers & Textiles segment posted an operating loss of 511 million yen (versus an operating loss of 165 million yen in the previous year) on net sales of 7,554 million yen (up 6.5% year on year).

[Others]

The Others category posted an operating loss of 8 million yen (versus an operating loss of 1 million yen in the previous year) on net sales of 18 million yen (up 25.3% year on year).

(2) Explanation of financial position

Total assets increased by 1,475 million yen from the end of the previous consolidated year to 192,874 million yen mainly due to a rise in inventories and property, plant and equipment despite a decrease in cash and deposits. Liabilities rose by 367 million yen from the end of the previous consolidated year to 148,695 million yen. This was primarily due to an increase in notes and accounts payable-trade despite a decline in interest-bearing debt. Net assets grew by 1,107 million yen from the end of the previous consolidated year to 44,178 million yen. This was mainly due to a rise in retained earnings caused by the posting of profit attributable to owners of parent.

(3) Explanation of future forecast information including forecast of consolidated performance

The Company did not revise its forecast of consolidated performance for both the first half and full fiscal year ending March 31, 2023, which the Group announced via the Brief Report of Financial Statements for the Fiscal Year Ended March 31, 2022 released on May 13, 2022.
